Water is a Human Right!

We call for the United Nations to pass a binding Convention on the Human Right to Water.

The United Nations approved General Comment 15 in 2002, explicitly acknowledging the human right to water. While General Comment 15 is a necessary step forward, it doesn't go far enough. We call for a binding convention on the Human Right to Water, full implementation from member states, and mechanisms to hold the private sector accountable to the requirements of International Law concerning the Human Right to Water.

We, the Undersigned, Call for the United Nations to Pass a Binding Convention on the Human Right to Water.
