Resolution

The 24th Triennial Congress of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, 14-25 July 1989 in Sydney, Australia:

In many countries, corporal punishment in child-raising and education is still widespread. So far, there are few existing studies concerning the actual extent of this practice. In spite of this, many people have a growing conviction that this use is connected with the acceptance of other forms of violence.

Sections are to work for making national laws against corporal punishment as a method used in child-raising and education.
